

Published in partnership with the CDI

JOURNAL OF THE National Institute for Career Education and Counselling

October 2022 | issue 49

In the October 2022 edition of the NICEC Journal we present an eclectic collection of engaging and informative articles by both experienced and new writers. The journal opens with the winning article of the Bill Law Award 2022: a valuable opportunity for new writers to hone the skills of academic research writing.

Thank you to everyone who contributed to this issue and also to you, our reader, for your continuing support and constructive feedback as we develop and adapt our career education and counselling work in the post-COVID-19 era.

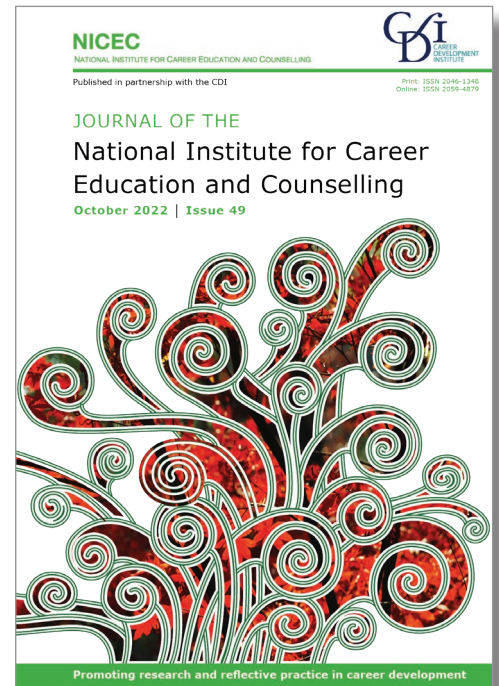

Editor: Michelle Stewart

CONTENTS

- Editorial: Overview of this issue – Michelle Stewart

ARTICLES

- I'm old enough and I'm young enough: Semi-retirement and career – Cordelia Wise (Winner of the Bill Law Award 2022)
- Is careers work white? A collaborative research project with minority ethnic students of career development practice – Gill Frigerio, Lassie Chen, Marni McArthur and Nishi Mehta
- How can we do this? An investigation of power constraints and other barriers to career development practitioners' innovation in higher education – Holly McLoughlin
- The impact of the COVID-19 pandemic on young people's experiences of careers support: A UK-wide and youth-centred analysis – Cristiana Orlando
- Towards a critical realist theory of labour market information – Tom Staunton
- Agents for change: Reimagining emancipatory career guidance practices in Scotland – Susan Meldrum
- The emancipatory potential of community interaction in career education – Petra Røise
- GigLawyer and/or BigLawyer? A grounded theory study of lawyer career craft – Nomita Nair

SUBSCRIPTION AND MEMBERSHIP

The Journal of the National Institute for Career Education and Counselling (Print ISSN 2046-1348; Online ISSN 2059-4879) is published in partnership with the CDI twice a year and is available both in print and online. The Journal is now open access. All issues are freely available online open access at www.nicecjournal.co.uk

Membership of NICEC is available (£75 pa or £50 pa for full-time students). Members receive the Journal, free attendance at NICEC events and other benefits.

For information on membership, please contact: membership@nicec.org

www.nicec.org