

Jolly Roger Rocks For Cancer

The second annual benefit concert in aid of the breast cancer charity "Un Lazo en Movimiento" was held at Puerto Alcúdia's Jolly Roger on Sunday (28 August). A packed poolside terrace enjoyed eight acts, such as The Blues Brothers and Robbie Williams (Rob Idol), in what was a hugely successful event.

Founder Linda Breevaart, delighted by the response to this year's concert, was able to announce that a further support group will soon be operating. In addition to "Un Lazo en Movimiento", for which support is offered primarily in Spanish and for breast cancer alone, another group, for English speakers and for all types of cancer, will soon start providing support sessions. This voluntary group, to be counselled by Krista Hyer, will help with a range of issues - practical, emotional, relationships and more - and will be open to both men and women. The location for these support sessions has still to be finalised; it will be in Puerto Alcúdia. More information will be published in "Talk Of The North" when available.
