

Faculty of Homeopathy

The Faculty of Homeopathy Terms and Conditions

The Faculty of Homeopathy's core business falls into three distinct areas – training and examinations, membership, and the promotion of homeopathy globally.

1. Training and Examinations

- The Faculty of Homeopathy works with a number of training providers globally who deliver the training and examinations set by the Faculty. The Faculty of Homeopathy is the accrediting body for these training providers. Any statutory registered homeopath who gains their qualifications through a Faculty of Homeopathy approved training centre is eligible for Faculty membership.
- If you are a UK based or international training provider and would like to know more about becoming an accredited training provider for the Faculty of Homeopathy please write to the Academic Dean at info@facultyofhomeopathy.org.

2. Membership

- The Faculty of Homeopathy is a global membership organisation for statutory registered homeopaths who have studied with a Faculty approved training centre or gained their qualifications through an unrelated training provider and been assessed for Faculty of Homeopathy membership through the equivalence process. The very best professional homeopaths who do not hold a statutory registration may also be considered for Faculty of Homeopathy membership.
The Faculty of Homeopathy has nine membership categories. These are:
 - Associate
 - Licentiate
 - Registrant
 - Diplomate
 - Member by Examination
 - Member on the Specialist Register
 - Fellow
 - Affiliate
 - Honorary Fellow.
- Only the Faculty of Homeopathy statutory registered members have voting rights at the Faculty's Annual General Meeting.
- Associate and Affiliate members of the Faculty, Honorary Fellows, and external Faculty Council Members do not have voting rights at the Faculty's Annual General Meeting.

3. Constitutional Rights of Membership

- All Faculty of Homeopathy members shall receive notification of the Faculty's Annual General Meeting and shall be invited to attend.
- All Faculty of Homeopathy members are obliged to undertake regular continuing professional development (CPD) as a part of their conditions of membership. If you are a Licentiate member of the Faculty you are required to undertake 12 hours of CPD annually. If you are a Registrant, Diplomate, Affiliate, Member by Examination, or Member by Examination on the Specialist Register of the Faculty you are required to undertake 20 hours of CPD annually.
- All Statutory Registered members of the Faculty are required to comply with the code of practice for their profession.

- All Faculty of Homeopathy Affiliate members will work within the scope of their professional skills and shall be aware of their limit of professional competence.
- Faculty of Homeopathy membership enables the practitioner to use the following post-nominals depending upon your level of membership:
