

Call for papers

Journal of the National Institute for Career Education and Counselling: October 2022 Issue

Open call for papers

Editor: Michelle Stewart

In order to enable and encourage the widest possible range of contributions, there is no specific theme identified for the October 2022 issue of the journal. Accordingly, papers are invited on any subject related to career development. As a rough guide, the following contexts and/or topics may be addressed. Any further suggestions to the editor would also be welcome.

Context(s) could include:

- Workplace settings (e.g. career coaching, L&D, HR, outplacement)
- Educational settings (e.g. schools, further education and skills, higher education)
- Informal settings (e.g. community-based)
- Career development work with young people in any context
- Career development work with adults in any context
- Any other relevant context

Topics(s) could include:

- Creative practice
- Innovation in relevant concepts or theories
- Current labour market issues and/or societal developments
- The organisation, management, or marketing of career support services
- Emerging political, corporate and/or governmental issues
- Expanding and/or innovative services and areas of activity
- Global, international, or non-UK-based work
- Social justice, critical pedagogical, and/or emancipatory practices
- The role of learning in the support of career development
- New tools, technologies, and models
- Fresh critical perspectives
- New case studies and other empirical work
- The relationship between career and lifelong learning, employability, well-being or other area
- The training and education of people who provide career help
- Any other relevant topic

Please feel free to email Michelle Stewart, the issue editor, with any preliminary queries and/or expressions of interest: MStewart1918@outlook.com

Final deadline for complete submissions prior to peer review: 30th June 2022