

Homeless Action Week

7-13 October

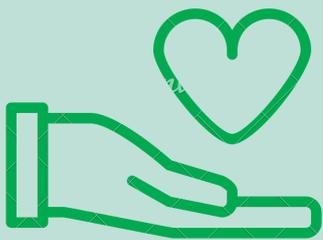

Homeless Action Week is about highlighting the challenges faced by people experiencing homelessness in London and generating vital funds to support their journey to independence.

Throughout the week Providence Row has been raising awareness, generating funds and taking action to tackle homelessness. But we can't do it alone! We need your support, voices and donations.

Concerned about someone sleeping rough? Here's how you can take action:

- Download the "StreetLink" app from the app-store on your phone.
- The details you provide are sent to the local authority or outreach service for the area. This helps them find the individual and connect them to support services like Providence Row.

Join Providence Row to tackle homelessness head on. Here's how you can take action:

- Fundraise with us to raise vital funds to support our services.
- Volunteer your time at one of our events or at our day centre.
- Host a collection to provide essential items to support our resource centre (e.g. towels, socks, toiletries).
- Nominate us as your chosen charity partner at your work, school, community or faith group.
