Online Training Newsletter

We'll be sending out our online training newsletter every other week with 2 or 3 options for you to have a look at. If you're interested in looking at more online training options now or would like some help in getting set up with the ones mentioned below, just get in touch with your worker.

Training

WWF

Head over to the WWF website to learn more about the world's leading independent conservation organisation and what they are doing to protect our natural environment. On their learning page you can find out more about individual species, learn about some of the greatest challenges facing the planet and catch up on the WWF nature talks. You can also use the website to read up on what you can do to make a difference and look for other ways to get involved.

How easy is it to use?

Really easy: you can use this website on your phone, tablet or laptop.

Google for Education – Create a CV

Do you need to create a CV or update your old one? Google for education have created an online lesson showing you how to do it step by step using google docs. The session is delivered in bitesize videos, giving you pointers on what you need to add in and time to have a think about your ideas.

How easy is it to use?

This one is pretty straightforward to access. You don't need a google log in to watch and if you would prefer to create your CV on something other than google docs that's fine too. You can watch on your tablet, phone or laptop. If you don't have a way to digitize your CV once you have written down your ideas, speak to your VPM for support.
